AROUND THE LIBRARY

MEMBERS' NEWS

Welcome to the following new members who joined during April and May:

Marsha Webster

Thank you to the following members who made financial donations to the library during April and May:

*Roger Beeston
Dr Richard Broome
Joan Esam
Deirdre Farfor
Caroline Floyd
Gillian Gengoult-Smith*

*Elaine Herbert
Lynne Hindhaugh
Harriet Houghton
Kate Lilley
Ralph Sutton*

A very big thank you also to those lapsed members who renewed their subscriptions in response to our recent lapsed member survey. Every subscription is important to the further development of the library and collection. We are also grateful to all those who took the time to fill in the survey, and give us valuable feedback on many aspects of the library service.

GENERAL NEWS

Works in the library:

Signage on the west window is complete, and the next thing will be cementing the most westerly former window display area to even up the floor before it is carpeted. Window tinting will follow soon.

Library shelving is very expensive, and normally when we have to purchase some, it puts strain on our budget. So we were grateful to Stonnington Library & Information Service for offering the PMI some used shelving which recently became available. The several bays of shelving is in storage and will be installed when we have the room to do so.

Annual General Meeting:

Thanks to all those members who attended the AGM on 1 May. There being no further nominations, Ben Quin was re-elected to the Committee for a further four years.

The 2006 reports of the Treasurer, Secretary Librarian and Promotions & Publications Librarian are available at the loans desk, or copies can be posted or emailed to you if you wish.

Group visits:

On 14 April the Melbourne Dead Persons Society visited the PMI and were given a talk and tour. The Society was formed in 1992 and its aims are to promote an interest in genealogy via the use of computers and the internet in a social environment and to foster cooperation, personal development and entertainment through genealogy. The Dead Persons Society website <http://home.vicnet.net.au/~dpsoc/> contains many useful links for genealogy, cemetery indexes compiled by the Society, and articles on holding a family reunion and how to clean headstones.

If your society, club or group would like to visit the library, please contact PMI on 9510 3393 or library@pmi.net.au

MIV NEWS

The Mechanics' Institutes of Victoria held a regional meeting at Malmsbury Mechanics' Institute on the 21 April which was a great success. The hall was packed and everyone spoke very passionately about his or her institute or their interest in institutes in general. An indirect outcome from this meeting was a grant for $65,000 to restore the Malmsbury Mechanics' Institute building.

We also met with a company based in Malmsbury that conducts Museum Certificate II courses and is very interested in working with the MIV on cataloguing and promoting institute collections and establishing a mechanics' institute trail.

The Department of Sustainability and the Environment funded this meeting. We plan to hold the next one somewhere around Gippsland.

PMI ACT AMENDED

An important set of amendments to the Prahran Mechanics' Institute Act (1899) recently passed through the Victorian Parliament and was given Royal Assent on 1 May.

This is the story of the amendments in a nutshell ...

In our recent discussions with Education Department reps regarding the lease of 140 High Street to the Minister for Education, a representative of the Victorian Government Solicitors Office (VGSO) expressed concern that the PMI may not actually have the power to own real property, because this power is not explicitly stated in the PMI Act. This is despite the fact that the PMI appears on the title to the land and buildings at High Street and Chapel Street.

In fact, according to the solicitors at Local Government Victoria, the PMI does have the right to purchase and sell real property, but it needs to arrange an Act of Parliament to do so. Such an Act would also make stipulations about what the property in question would be used for.

And this is exactly what the PMI did in 1912, when an Act passed in the Victorian Parliament, granting the PMI special permission to mortgage its Chapel Street property, purchase land, and erect "thereon a building in which to carry on such Mechanics' Institute and Circulating Library and to hold technical classes ...". This 1912 Act was repealed in 1958, long after the PMI had made the final payment on the property.

The only problem was that no amendments were made within the original 1899 Act to state that the purchase of the High Street property was carried out with the necessary permission. This, according to the VGSO, cast significant doubt over the PMI's ownership of the High Street property.

Though the PMI Committee was satisfied that there has never been any doubt as to the PMI's ownership of High Street, it took the advice of Local Government Victoria and a bill was drafted to alter the PMI act of 1899 to include mention of the legal mortgage, land purchase and erection of the buildings. The bill also removed any doubt as to the PMI's ability to enter into long term leases at both the Chapel Street and High Street properties.

We are grateful to Cathy Dineen and her colleagues at Local Government Victoria for sorting this issue out very quickly indeed, so that the Committee may now move on with further discussions about the lease. Thanks also to the Member for Prahran, Tony Lupton, and the new Minister for Local Government, Richard Wynne who both spoke so favourably of the amendments, of the PMI and the library service and PMI Press. We are also grateful that the Bill was allowed to proceed as a private members bill, meaning that the ordinary fee for such legislation was waived. Other members of both houses on all sides of the political fences spoke very favourably of the Bill, the PMI and the mechanics' institutes in their constituencies.

If you would like to look at the relevant Hansard, visit <http://tex.parliament.vic.gov.au>, click on 'Hansard', and type 'prahran mechanics institute' in the search field.

Our next major administrative step will be to have the new rules gazetted by the Victorian Executive Council. The rules upgrade was carried out in 2006 in consultation with library staff, committee, PMI members, Consumer Affairs Victoria and Local Government Victoria. If you would like to read the final version of the new rules, please ask library staff to print/post/email you a copy. Further information about the new rules will appear in a future newsletter.

PMI PRESS UPDATE

The judges of the Federation of Australian Writers Melbourne University Publishing Award had this to say about Frontier French Island by Ruth Gooch:

Highly commended: Ruth Gooch's history of French Island is a model local history. It is extremely well researched, the illustrations are excellent and it is written with great warmth.

Congratulations Ruth.

Design for Living: A History of 'Prahran Tech' is complete and will be launched at the Prahran Town Hall at 6.00pm. Further details about the book are elsewhere in this newsletter. If you would like to attend the launch of the book please RSVP 9510 3393 or library@pmi.net.au by 31 May.

The next publication on our schedule is Fine Tunes by Mark Whitty. A jazz entertainer for 45 years, Whitty has written anecdotal and biographical accounts of thirteen Melbourne jazz musicians who were friends and mentors to him early in his career. You will be hearing more about this book as work progresses.

PMI Library Collection Guide

No 3. Historical Collection: 'Subject Histories'

The previous collection guide talked about the 'local histories' in the collection - that is, books that have been written about a the history of a particular region or locality, or a particular aspect of the history of a region or locality. Those books are found at Dewey Decimal Classification (DDC) numbers 994.51-994.59.

BUT there are many, many books in the collection pertaining to the history of Victoria which are not limited to covering a particular region or locality. These items are arranged on the shelves according to SUBJECT and are found at DDC numbers 000-994.5. Further details about this large section of the historical collection are given in this guide.

For information about the origin of the historical collection and about how items are selected and acquired for the historical collection, see guide 2 in the previous (April) newsletter. Also refer to the previous guide for information about reference items.

Location

The subject histories are mainly located in the west section of the library and the map below shows the location of the calls numbers 000-994.5. Subject history items can also be found in the glass cabinet, vertical file and folio section (refer previous guide for descriptions of these). Additionally, we subscribe to quite a few journals which are not specific to a locality (such as the journals of the RHSV, the Art Deco Society and the Australian Garden History Society) and these can be found in the periodicals section by journal title.

Browsing the subject histories

Alternatively, you can browse the subject histories by the DDC numbers. You will see when you browse this part of the collection that we try to keep the call numbers as short as possible - most consist of a three digit DDC number and a three letter code (usually the first three letters of the author's name). Sometimes we have to use additional numbers to further classify items (eg. 351 for politics, 351.1-351.9 for different categories under that subject).

The following is a guide to some of the material held under the broad categories of DDC numbers. Remember that any subject histories relating to a particular area will be filed with the area. A book about the VFL, VFA or AFL will be located at 796.336, but a book about the Preston Bullants football club will be filed at 994.51 PRES SPO and the North Ballarat Roosters at 994.57 BALL SPO.

Searching the catalogue

The most efficient way to search the collection is by searching the catalogue - or asking library staff to search the catalogue for you. This is the only way you can ensure that you have found everything in the collection related to the subject area you are interested in. Find out secrets to searching the online catalogue in a future guide in this newsletter

Any questions?

If you have any specific questions about the local history collection that have not been answered by this guide, please inform library staff, and we will include this information in the next newsletter.
